

Aug 9, 1982

Danny:

As you are aware, we have been under continuing resolutions many times in the past several years. Unfortunately, we can never can plan on how to operate under one because it will almost certainly turn out to be different than how we had planned. I think if we try to do something now we will be generating a time consuming issue which may or may not materialize in this form when 1983 arrives.

My bottom line is let's file this away for discussion on September 29 when Congress starts to write the continuing resolution.
